PRINCESS MARGARET. 25/10/55.

Princess Margaret made a tour of the wards and chatted to some of the young patients when she went to Epsom to open a new Out Patients' Department of the District Hospital. During her visit, the Princess paid tribute to the work of the Red Cross & St John's.

WEIGHT LIFTING.

In Munich --- this was Paul Anderson of America, winning the weightlifting world championship....which seems to suggest that if you take up weightlifting, you too can have a figure like this.

Next was the competition to find Mr Universe. This kind of thing never happened forty years ago; So grandma didn't find out until too late, about grandpa's long pants.

MALTA.

In Malta, members of the delegation from London, have completed their first inquiries into the subject of the island's possible integration with Britain. The last days of their visit, were spent in exchanging views, with the men and women they met casually in the towns and villages.

SAAR VOTET

These pictures from Saarbrucken bring us the election scenes in one of the danger spots of Europe....As a result of the polling, the Hoffman Government announced its resignation. Most of the day passed off quietly --- but there were some occasions when the Saar electorate, fell foul of the police.

WALES v ENGLAND.

At Ninian Park, Cardiff --- Wales kicked off for the international soccer match that was to upset the form of seventeen years.....a Welsh win aganst England, by two goals to one. It was the Welsh side that scored first --- through Tapscott.

Wales led two - nil at the interval --- and in the second half, John Charles made England a present of their only goal.
