

032220-C

Mr. Abbott
Miss Steinkamp
Mr. Park
England
France
Germany
Poland
Cutter
Foreign Dept.
AP

Title: CL88
Effects: 337-305
Heavilin
Heatter
Non
#26

November 1, 1937.

OFF-STAGE VOICE---"CHINA FIGHTS ON"

1 Title

2 New war pictures come from China, and out of Shanghai's shambles comes grave news. Defense zones held by American Marines have been entered by Japan's soldiers, and bewildered Chinese have a looksee at a war that gathers frightening momentum. British troops struck by Japanese gunfire---five British Tommies dead. Notes of apology, yes, but there is still the crushing note of exploding bombs.

13 In Shanghai's Hongkew section there is peace. Japanese soldiers shop in Japanese market places. No war today for these veterans. And nearby they have prisoners. There are twenty-eight Chinese prisoners here, and the camera sees them fed.

18 Yes, hunger goes with war. Here are Chinese refugees; Japanese troops have rice rations for young and old civilians, caught in a business they cannot do not understand. ~~Japanese troops are... permanent...~~

~~Hirohito... Japanese emperor...~~

26 In Nanking, China's generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, says the war has united China, and Madame Chiang has this message: