these pictures, and Roumania is now under Hitler's thumb. But before the Nazis made their move Queen Helen had her triumphal return. Most Roumanians thought she had a rough deal when Carol cast her aside for Madame Lupescu. Nor has fortune made full amends. The Roumanian throne now stands only so long as Hitler permits. Helen's one is King in name only.

OFF-STAGE VOICE---FLASHES

1. (OPEN FOR SUPER: "WORLD'S FAIR CLOSING")

2. Closing day for the Golden Gate International Exposition, and Treasure Island has its final fling. Final sell outs---souvenirs, some of them impromptu, such as these flowers.

7. And fun? Yep, anything goes today.

10. This gay island, that didn't exist two years ago, will be shorn of buildings,
15. and resurfaced as a great airport. Six and a half million people have seen the Fair this year. Now it's history and its "lights out! Lights out, and section by section Treasure Island slips into the shadows of memory....

1,2. (OPEN FOR SUPER "GOOD WILL STANDS BORDER GUARD")

A peace day salute at the international border between Canada and the United States. Eight thousand citizens of each country see the interchange of national emblems, celebrating another friendship anniversary between neighbor nations. A frontier scene of peace in a world of angry frontiers.

1. (OPEN FOR SUPER: "BOULDER DAM MARKS BIRTHDAY")

2. Boulder Dam, in operation four years, is a mecca for tourists, today. In the huge generating plants a master valve starts a lavish water display. From the huge needle jet outlets, 5,000 cubic feet of water per second pour out---each jet a young river.

11. Observation skiffs afford rare views of the mighty spectacle---a sheet of water 13 feet higher than Niagara Falls.

17. Boulder Dam stores 10 1/2 trillion gallons of water---5,000 gallons for every human being in the world, and furnishes water and electric power for faraway Los Angeles.

1. (OPEN SUPER: "RETURN TO RUMANIA")

2. Rumania, gone totalitarian, gives royal welcome to Queen Mother Helen, mother of 19-year-old King Michael. Dictator Antonescu called her from exile and the traditional breadbreaking.

3. Rumania, gone totalitarian, gives royal welcome to Queen Helen, divorced wife of Carol and mother of King Michael. Dictator Antonescu called her from exile, and traditional breadbreaking precedes a triumphal return for the former Princess of Greece. Twelve years ago King Helen was supplanted by Carol's Margda Lupescu. Today, Bucharest shows its affection for 19-year-old Michael's mother.

11. Nazi-like salutes mark the four-mile pageant. Carol and his red-headed friend fled for their lives after the Axis powers ordered his abdication. So Rumania hails Queen Mother and boy King---figure heads in a shaking Balkan puzzle.

Royal gift to the London County Council are four ambulances and eight mobile canteens which King George donates as a contribution to civil defence. Personnel of the L.C.C. ambulance service will act as drivers, a brave job while London is being bombed every night. Plenty of ambulances will mean that air raid casualties can be rushed to hospital while there's good chance of saving life.

The mobile canteens will be a boon in raided areas, providing a good cup of tea and something hot to eat at the time they're most needed. We could all wish these vehicles would never be wanted; as it is London may have good cause to be grateful for the royal gift.

How to sleep eight in an Anderson shelter. A London policeman has solved the problem and wants to show how it's done. Four raised bunks are built lengthwise. Two wider ones, each for two children, are arranged crosswise at the back. Anybody can do the job who can use a saw and hammer.

Now for the flea-bag. Take a good blanket, seven feet by six-and-a-half. Line with muslin, sew both together, all down and across, and fill the resulting pockets as you go with wollen rags. Good tips, for owners of the two-and-half-million Anderson shelters.

American infantry adopt the Gnat, a 40-horse, 4-wheel-drive car to take a machine-gun crew practically anywhere. Every driver has to go through this test. The Gnat can do 60 miles an hour on a good road, but they're not interested in good roads.

No sooner had Roumania got rid of King Carol than it invited Helen the Queen Mother, back to the country. Dictator Antonescu and 19-year-old King Michael welcomed her. The traditional bread-breaking preceded the Queen's drive to the Palace.
