As well as training pilots from all parts of the Empire, Canada has its own R.A.F. Some squadrons staged the defence of Camp Borden aerodrome, which was being attacked in combined 'army-air-force manoeuvres.

Light bombers followed the fighter-planes on receiving reports that the airfield was being attacked by tanks - some of the old ones recently obtained from the States for tank-training.

American planes put up a spectacular show at Langley Field, designed to prove that in quality the U.S. air force is up to the highest standard. Military attaches from Latin America looked on.

(Nine Scenes out here)

Flying fortresses - the great bombers which are now being released for Britain - along with the flash-bomb, and the crack bomb-sight whose marvels account for the uncanny accuracy with which they now bomb the quayside.

1. THE WAR BIRDS FLY!
3. Canada spreads her defensive wings! The Royal Canadian Air Force, in simulated
7. defense of Ontario's strategic Camp Borden Airdrome fighting off make-believe raiders, across the border from the United States.
8. Looking grimly like the real thing -- pilots and bombs go aloft to meet the enemy.
12. Serious business, this, for a nation that is aiding Mother Country England in Europe's big war.
- 14.15. Over-age tanks imported from the United States are today's targets!
16. Meanwhile, throughout the British Empire, new pilots by the hundreds and thousands
20. are trained, hurriedly, but thoroughly! This is Britain's preparation for RAF men.
21. Tomorrow -- a bull's-eye!
(sub title: US Wings)
2. Uncle Sam's wings for Hemisphere defense! At Langley Field, the Army Air Corps
6. puts on its own preparedness show.....
7. Visiting Latin American officers see crack fighters of the Eighth Pursuit Group
9. fire the the Army's new large calibre machine guns!
13. Next - Bombers and flying fortresses! 13 will soon be delivered to Great Britain.
20. In addition, the RAF has received American bomb sights. But now -- on with the bombing drill....
