Mr. Churchill attended the King and Queen when Her Majesty went to launch the battleship Duke of York. The workers gave them a wonderful reception.

The towering man-o'-war is one of five battleships of the King George V class. The launching made a great day for the unrivalled shipbuilders who made her.

The champagne smashed against the great hull and the 35,000-tonner began her slide down to the water. She'll have ten 14-inch guns, as well as a good many unpleasant surprises for the enemy

(L.V.) A great battleship had joined the navy. There was enthusiasm all round. Cheers rent the air for Their Majesties and for THE man of the year, Winston Churchill.
