

1. TRAIN DISASTER

2. 38 dead, fifty injured, in Mexico's most dreadful railroad disaster. The train carrying railroad employees and their families on an outing, left a curve, plunged down a ravine.
8. Prompt rescue work kept the death toll from being higher.
11. Of the fifty injured, many are given little hope, as this mountain village mourns its heaviest tragedy.

1. CANADA "STAMPS" NAZIS

2. War savings stamps, familiar to Americans in 1918, bring out Canada's coppers, and coins, as the Dominion seek war finances. With Britain unable to continue purchases of war materials in the United States, every bit counts. Canada hears that President Roosevelt is studying arms loans, but meantime the stamp drive is enthusiastically subscribed to.
8. And the slogan "lick stamps to lick Hitler" is the watchword of the day.

1. BOMBS FOR R.A.F.

2. Britain has bombs. Here, a Royal Air Force class in advanced bombing, as British carries the fight by air to the far interior of Germany. And perhaps these 250 pound bombs have iron brothers hurtling down over Libya and Albania, too.
9. Tons of bombs for each night's raids and thousands of these incendiary sticks. For a single night, the production of an entire factory is needed, as the R.A.F. hammers at German targets. And the British repeat that without help from the United States the supply must someday run out.
13. Now, ready for raiding drill.....
16. Target on-----fire!
17. Only practice bombs, for their must be no waste of the eggs of war that mark the 37th birthday of airplane flight---flight that now carries these.....

1. ARMY DILEMMA

2. National Guardsman Matt Ferguson reports--and so does Alice, his elephant. Ferguson is called up for a year. Alice wants to enlist, and the Army regulation book says no! 6. Ferguson got the elephant for farm work. The pachyderms substitute for tractors and can do useful things like going down garden stairs. But in the Army--no. So who can blame Alice if she's just a trunkfull of mood!
