Crack A.T.S. drivers are doing men's work rushing new lorries to the army. Some fetch them from the factories, others deliver them. The depot board tells them the day's job.

Before leaving, each girl draws an allowance for billeting and general expenses. It may be many days before she gets back to the depot.

Next, to the canteen for something to chew. 120 miles is a normal day's schedule.

(Marching) There are 600 drivers at this depot, through which pass all new vehicles for the army. But the supply of lorries is so great that many more drivers are wanted.

(LV Girl With Suitcase On Board) All aboard ! They'll spend the night at a town en route in billets arranged by the police. They tackle anything up to 30-hundred-weight trucks, and they're so good that accidents are almost unheard of.

(BV Girl At Wheel) Every ATS girl at the wheel frees another man to drive a tank. So - up, girls, and - AT 'em !
