It must be a relief for the Army to have a Prime Minister who's a trained soldier and understands what he's looking at knows what you're doing. It's certainly a long time since military vehicles were named after anybody in Downing Street.

On this visit to an armoured unit Mr. Churchill was accompanied by two allied military commanders, General De Gaulle, head of the Free French, and General Sikorsky, Prime Minister of Poland. Tanks versus guns was the theme of the show.

Three cheers for Winnie !      And so say all of us.
