Voice: D.

It's hard to be a hero if you've got raging toothache, even in the navy, so the depot ships have a dental surgery where they tell Jack it won't hurt him, and he'll feel much better when it's out.

Take a deep breath. When he comes to he'll think his mouth has been torpedoed. Everybody hold tight.

----

(CJ DROPPING) Now try and ache.

Drilling. Quite pleasant when you aren't in the chair.

----

In the mechanics department they're busy making top and bottom sets which will do credit to the fleet.

-----

A final polish and the lucky man's equipped to flash a film star smile in every port.
