London Tribute to American Pilot

This tablet erected in the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral in tribute to the first American fighter-pilot to give his life for England is to be unveiled on Friday by the Secretary of State for Air, Sir Archibald Sinclair.

The tablet is in memory of Pilot-officer William Meade Lindsey Fiske, R.A.F., who, on the outbreak of war gave up his business in New York and came to Britain to join the famous 601 (City of London) fighter squadron. On the left is the bronze bust of George Washington.
