Several scenes of Wolfram used for making high test steel

Saigon

Scenes showing shots of Saigon, views of harbor with mostly French and Japanese shipping. Great boulevards liver up in the evenings when light grows dim and pretty girls take their exercise in bicycles jinrickshas.

Hanoi

Through the town of Hanoi walk the wild Moi people. They ar mountain and forest people not unlike American Indians. Driving the south coastal country is very beautiful. These people hunt and fish.

Haiphong

Gov. General Decoux (Admiral) reviews annamite troops & sailors monument to world war dead. Various scenes of Annamite guard of honor. Decoux boards "Admiral Charner" for tour of inspection. This ship was in port for ceremony.

Coal Mines

The mines are a concession to a corporation from the colonial gov't. The coal veins should be visible. Coal from here is anthracite. Current annual production is 1,200,000 tons of which half is exported.

Rubber Plantation

The rubber crop is vastly important to a colony that produces 70 thousand tons annually, most of which goes to Japan.

Empress Of Annam

Here we find the Empress of Annam. The crown princess wears a gold tablet denoting rank. She is probably the most beautiful woman in the kingdom. Views of Empress with children. Cu of children.

Moi Village

Here life goes on as in the stone age. Driving further along mountain highway we find Moie fishing with dip nets and palm leaf seine.

Thatched Houses

Scenes of men on road. Types dig trenches. Scenes of flagraiding with men with guns at attention as the flag goes up.
