Roll.2.

British Tank men and Doughboys chaff Italian women doing their washing. This is a typical scene throughout Italy - within few hours of the troops arriving the Italians are catering for their washing needs amidst good humoured. chaff.
Air Raid scenes.

Roll.3.

Construction of airfield on the beachhead.
Laying of wire netting runway. C.u. linking up the stripes of netting.
L.s. showing ships off shore with hull of hit ships burning.

Further scenes of fighters taking off will be given at the earliest moment.

Notes.

The above material could accurately be used with the "Secret Weapon" story. The day raid scenes will not I am afraid, be much use owing to not being in a favourable position and being engaged on other stories at that time.
The beachhead flying field will be of paramount use for fighters etc. in the protection of the beachhead. The ground is very soft hence the use of netting.
