

KING & QUEEN SEE BOMBER COMMANDS

Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Harris conducted His Majesty during the royal visit to Bomber Command. This is the place, somewhere in the country, where Ginger Harris is carrying out his promise of total obliteration of the leading German cities. The secrets of the organisation, shown to Their Majesties, are not for publication, so the film cameras remained outside. However, it needs little imagination to guess that the royal visitors were considerably impressed by what they saw.

Now, an American subject
Now for ~~America!~~ This time their Majesties, greeted by Gen. Doolittle, <sup>saw 19<sup>0</sup></sup> ~~inspected headquarters of~~ the U.S. 8th Air Force, which organises the day bombing of Germany. After introduction to leading headquarter personalities, the King and Queen spoke to men of a Liberator crew, of whose valour they had already heard.

(LV walk past) Their Majesties were invited to see inside a Flying Fortress. Still larger Forts are coming over, to swell the tremendous bomber-fleet now clearly winning the decisive Battle Of Germany.
