KING AND QUEEN SEE BOMB DAMAGE... IN LONDON.

BOX 11779

Part of a street of small houses which were blasted flat.

The King and Queen arrive to see for themselves the damaged areas.

They talk to the people who have lost their homes and suffered during the raids.

They praise the members of the various A.R.P. departments.

They talk to two women outside their bombed house.

A party of small boys tell the King and Queen all about the raid.

"How plucky everyone is about it" was the Queen's comment.

The King and Queen attended by the Lady Delia Peel, Sir Eric Miville and Colonel Dermot Malborough Kavanagh.
