1923 P.O. 1920

New Fighting squadrons for China's airforce. Units of the Composite Wing receive their first inspection by Generalissimo and Madam Chiang Kai Shek. Trained in the U.S.A., under joint Chinese and American command, they'll spearhead China's air war on Japan. A proud moment for China, and for Madam Chiang who worked to create the new Command. With latest fighters and Bombers the Composite Wing will soon be giving China's answer to the war
