

FLASHES FROM AMERICA

It's good-bye to Miami for the lucky Americans who have lodged in Florida's luxury hotels ~~for~~ ^{during} winter training. The boys are wanted for something more serious elsewhere. So back to Miami come the tourists and bathing belles and the old place looks ~~just like peacetime.~~ ^{in good shape gn.}

~~The~~ Folk who can snatch a holiday lose no time in moving in while the troops pull out. Fortified by the sun of Florida they'll put paid to the Sun of Heaven.

Practice rescue of a supposedly ~~mountain~~ injured airman ~~gave a realistic touch to a mountain test of~~ gave a realistic touch to the test of the Mountain Cat, designed to aid pilots who crash in ^{high-up,} out of the way ~~mountain~~ ^{spots.} ~~spots.~~ The test took place seven-thousand feet up on Mount Hood. ~~The~~ ^{T Cat is} ~~equipped~~ with oxygen and fire-fighting gear and ~~its powerful engines~~ make light of a gradient of one-in-two.

^{sh} Accidents in post-war flying ~~will~~ be rare, but for the occasional one, the mountain cat may prove a life-saver.

California held a baby-show for infants of soldiers who'd become fathers since they joined up. / ^{Many of the} The fighting men saw their offspring for the first time at this show. The tots ranged from six months to two years.

-
After all that show-stuff they had a ride on the merry-go-round.

.... ~~May, less of that unarmed combat.~~