

~~Forget war for a minute, and feast your eyes, ^{girls,} ~~let's,~~ ^{on} on ~~Russian Lynx,~~ leopard, silver blue Mink, Labrador Mink.~~

They're what the wealthy woman in New York hopes to be wearing to celebrate victory. ~~Lucky woman in New York.~~

These two coats are platina fox. Worth a lot of money.

Here's a cloth coat of purple wool, trimmed with Chinchilla.

pan up
The fur's on the inside of this red wool coat, forming a lining of ~~platinum~~ ^{plain} mink. Fancy being able to afford mink and then hiding it. The hat's trimmed with mink too.

Modify the black-out. That's better. It's a full length Labrador Mink, setting back the husband's bank account by fifteen hundred pounds.... ~~quite nice, isn't it?~~

She Chinchilla. ~~Man~~ ^{Man} can keep nice and warm in this for eighteen hundred. ~~anywhere outside England it'd be cheaper to buy coat.~~

More chinchilla; hat, stole and muff. ^{quite} There's an art ^{expensive} in wearing furs to advantage. I take it you've got it.

1. TITLE: FOR FALL -- IT'S FURS!
2. For Fall, it's furs! Furs like Russian lynx, leopard, silver blue mink, Labrador mink. From the New York collection of I. J. Fox, an early view of what we'll be seeing more of, come football weather. A pair of platina fox coats, for instance, or a smart cloth coat of purple wool, trimmed with chinchilla. Now, here's something neat - the inside-out fur coat, a red wool coat with a lining of plain mink. Even the hat is mink-trimmed. Lights, please. Illumination for a full-length Labrador mink coat. One like this is valued at a mere 6 thousand, 500 dollars.
10. Chinchilla is nice, too. You can keep warm in one of these for only 7 thousand 800 dollars. All of these furs are raised right here in America.
12. More chinchilla - hat, stole, and muff from this rare and lovely fur. And this rare and lovely creature inside the fur says, "See you this Autumn!"
