

KING SEES HOW NAVY PLOTTED D-DAY%

In Portsmouth for the first time since the invasion of France His Majesty was the guest of the Royal Navy. ~~before inspecting invasion day secrets the King spoke to a ~~Marine~~ Marine who was for many years a sailor on the Royal yacht.~~

A hundred feet below ground His Majesty saw the big plotting table showing the invasion fleet positions ~~at~~ at ~~£.~~ 4.30 on the morning of D-Day, when W.R.F.N.S. plotted ~~the~~ the great seaborne assault. At the Royal Naval Barracks nearly four thousand sailors and wrens marched past, men and women who on D-Day, as always, earned the Nation's thanks.
