ROOSEVELT.

Crowds at Ebbets Baseball Field, Brooklyn, greet President Roosevelt starting his tour of New York City. Here on behalf of his friend, Senator Bob Wagner, Mr. Roosevelt has a special word for Brooklyn Dodger fans.

Now the procession through the metropolis, in a downpour of rain which Mr. Roosevelt braves in an open car.

F.D.R.'s first outdoor appearance as a campaigning candidate, he doesn't seem to mind the weather one bit...New York certainly knows there's a political campaign on.

At the Waldorf Astoria, before the Foreign Policy Association, Mr. Roosevelt advocates force to maintain post-war peace, and pledges the disarming of Germany.
