SNOW STORM IN CANADA.

December 22nd, 1944.

Arctic gales whip up a frigid wave for a large section of the United States and Canada as Toronto is lashed by the worst blizzard in seventy-two years.

(4 - 5 SOUND).

A snowfall that in 36 hours comes within half-an-inch of an all time record. For many hours all traffic is stalled despite armies of workers. Winter has come in with a rush and it will take plenty of digging to get things back to normal.

(10 SOUND).
