DUTCH CHILDREN FIND REFUGE IN BRITAIN

Five hundred children from the district round Nijmogon left Holland and are now in this country. They are all under-nourished as the result of the four year German occupation. Dimensional membhanding shows and be an and provide the second second journey

After the short train jummum they began the next stage of their adventure. These children are the first batch of eleven thousand who will be brought to Britain if the experiment proves successful. Most of them thoroughly enjoyed the sea trip, but as always on sea trips, there were some who didn't. The side over the children landed at an English port. In this country they will have special rations to overcome the effects of malnutrition. The first five hundred were taken to a comp at Coventry, when the special country they will the provent the sea t the second and the second and the second to return to Helland Under a photograph of queen Wilhelmina they set down to be their first substantial meal for some time. Very few did the food justice. They have had so little for below such a long time, their appetites are much institution ormal. However, they were soon in the best of spirits, paying Maria a tribute to their new country by singing fit's a long Vay to Tipperary.