

HOLIDAYS AWAY!

The beaches were open and the brave ones went in.

Pleasure seekers inland included 14,000 race-goers who went to Ascot. There was a feeling of victory in the air but it was still very much a wartime Ascot. ~~Perhaps~~ By long

~~next time something of the pre-war glories will be seen again.~~
~~revised~~

The front at Brighton has said goodbye to barbed wire, a fact that brought multitudes of holidaymakers to have their first look at the sea for some years.

Southend, no longer a banned area, welcomed its thousands from London, all of them full of the holiday spirit, bursting to enjoy the good matey pleasures for which the place is famous.

The celebrated whelk stalls did a roaring trade. You must let yourself go with whelks or they aren't worth it.

For those who wanted a closer smell of the briny it was any more for the Skylark? ~~Some of the best~~ holiday is knowing how to enjoy yourself. Then a little bit of what you fancy does you good. Eh, ma?
