

CHELSEA WIN WAR'S LAST CUP FINAL

90,000 people, ~~in~~ a crowd of peacetime proportions, cheered the King, Queen and Princess, arriving to see the Southern Cup Final. Lord Wavell was in the royal box. Everybody felt that this would be the last wartime ~~cup~~ Final. Chelsea ~~had~~ were soon attacking the Millwall goal. However there was no score in the first half and the play was considered the poorest ever seen at Wembley.

(Three out)

(One after CU crowd) Chelsea's goal survived all the attacks of Millwall and the first score of the game was just after the second half kick-off. Macdonald put Chelsea one up.

(~~three~~ out)

Chelsea clinched the matter when Joe Payne passed to Wardle, and the inside right put the ball in the net. The King presented the cup to Harris, the centre-half borrowed from Wolverhampton. Here's to a peacetime final next year.
