

PRINCESS JOINS UP

The heiress to the throne has qualified as an ambulance driver in the A.T.S. Her royal highness went through the normal instruction course, which takes in map-reading as part of the training.

The Princess could not drive a car until she joined the A.T.S. She learned in the regulation time and came through the passing-out test with flying colours.

Women Ambulance
~~ambulance~~
The drivers have to be able to do running repairs and must ~~know~~ how to change a wheel.

The King, queen and Princess Margaret visited the camp to see Princess Elizabeth ~~see~~ ^g this part of the test. Princess Margaret wasn't dressed for that sort of thing and was willing to leave it to her sister. After completing the course, ^{7 qualify} Princess Elizabeth went back to her normal royal duties.