FRANCE REMEMBERS

Before the Arc De Triomphe, France renews her tribute of remembrance to sons who gave their lives in the Great World wars for liberty.

Towards the Eternal Flame are borne the bodies of fifteen heroes of the final battle, to lie in state beside the Unknown Warrior's Tomb.

Units of France's Metropolitan and Colonial Armies pay homage in a March Past and in this sign of her returning strength, her citizens rejoice, confident that, under the leadership of their elected head, General Charles De Gaulle, France will revive her greatness.
