BLOEMFONTEIN SINGS ROYAL GREETINGS

and the heat so intense Crowds were so great/when Their Majesties visited Bloemfontein, capital of the Örange Free State, several women fainted.

In King's Park a choir of 2,000 schoolchildren sang the Afrikaans hymn, Die Ere Van God, The Glery of God.

At Bloemfontein, as everywhere since the tour begam, the royal progress was acclaimed with tremendous enthusiasm; by none more than the children, the very promising next generation of this part of the British Commonwealth.
