

HAIFA OIL BLAZE

Stern Gang terrorists have struck their biggest blow to date. Exploding a charge under a pipeline at the Haifa Oil Store and Refinery they started a blaze which destroyed fuel worth three hundred and fifty thousand pounds. When it was ^{day} light the fire was almost uncontrollable and an acrid column of black smoke rose four thousand feet into the sky.

That same morning a ship bearing illegal immigrants came to the Haifa dockside. The harassed authorities, already tested to nearly full stretch by the fire, now had this second trouble on their hands. It was some time before the immigrants could be peacefully disembarked and arrangements made to tranship them to Cyprus.

Meanwhile two thousand soldiers, sailors and firemen attempted to bring the blaze under control. Ten of the seventeen storage tanks were gutted before the fire was put out. One result has been that ~~the~~ Jewish ^{organise} ~~underground~~ ~~is~~ ~~threatening~~ the terrorists with force if their activities continue. May it be that the Haifa oil blaze was the funeral pyre of the Palestine reign of terror.
