The police did not approve of Paramounts starting the fire again. It has not been burning today, but just smoldering from last night. They say that the fire service must be standing by, however I did shots of the hose laying there. Whilst there, the Superintendent of the City Corporation a Mr Dove who did not wish to be photographed appeared on the scene and told the shopkeepers etc that the strike was settled(at least he said for the time being) and told the above shopkeepers to put out the remains of the fire. The above took place at Leadenhall Market. C.U. of man with pipe is Mr Dove. No newsreels were there last night.
