BURMA REUNION AT ALBERT HALL.

GENERAL SLIM SPEECH.

CU It is good to be with you chaps again. You look very the same to me much as you did in your successful ~~nicer~~ in your nice civvy suit than in the jungle green. an you sound much the same. 31

.....(laughter) But in 1942 when I first went out to lead you Burma the retreat was on, and I came out as a new commander ~~master~~ 48 and I was rather proud of myself, ..... the voice said to me and while I was there somebody was on the telephone

General Wankin of the Chinese Army. and the signalman who was taking the message Is General Slim at your 89

Headquarters? ..... put his hand over the receiver and looked round and said 'Is there any something Chinese general called Slim around here? (laughter) G.V. 9

FCU In Imphal and around Kohima where body to body with

..... and bayonet you again taught the Jap who was the better man. And while you were doing that your comrades the Americans and Chinese helped by thousands of you air-landed behind the enemy on the road to China.

SV SV struggle of little ships, aircraft and soldiers up to their waists in mangrove swamps of the Arakan that gave us the airfields which that made the final advance to Rangoon possible.

That race, one of the most thrilling races that there ever was, 9 raced against weather, against time, against demolition and Japs and the 50 chaps in the 15th Corps who beat us to it.

SV 12 measured you as, as men, you 12 passed the test; but not only men but the women too. We shall not forget those nurses who in a word ~~against~~ a thousand hardships attended our sick and wounded when the Japanese (applause) ..who handed you your cup of char on the jungle track with the Japanese guns thundering round the bend. Women in hospital canteen, in the foulest weather, in the toughest spots. ....

SV Think about that tomorrow. We are here tonight to enjoy ourselves, and let us do it. I hope there is enough beer to go round. At any rate, at any rate, there will be more than you
