

Fiery Cross

A great gathering of the Clans assembled at Edinburgh Castle

To the airs of massed pipe bands, a great gathering of the clans was held at Edinburgh Castle.

Sc 4
Chiefs whose ancestors raised the Fiery Cross for Bonnie Prince Charlie in 1745 supported another swift march towards London as the fiery crosses, carrying far and wide the message of Scotlands Great Industrial Exhibition, are lit by the Lord Provost.

Sc 11.

The burning crosses are extinguished in the traditional manner in goats blood and the team of twenty five Scottish athletes lines up for the four hundred mile relay run to London.

The heart of England's capital is reached in forty seven hours actual running time, which represents an average of eight and a half miles an hour. PAUSE

Pride of place as the bearer of the message from the Lord Provost of Edinburgh to the Lord Mayor of London falls to Duncan McLeod Wright, the International Marathon runner.

Sc 22.

And now the crosses roll in, for the message of Enterprise Scotland is to reach Scots all over the world. A tough job for the Airways service..for where is'nt there a Scot ?
