

TWINS.

Sc 1.

Obviously they don't need our Scotch whisky in the States, for where they can stage a Twins Convention like this, they can have a Lost Week End four times a month without a single hangover.

Sc 6 GV Group.

The twins are debating the problems of a double life and how to explain that they're not the persons you think they are. For instance Pete might be mistaken for repeat.

Sc 9. Or Kate mistaken for Dupli-Kate.

Sc 10. Or just plain mistaken.

Sc 12. But there's consolation in being a twin! Your brother's clothes will always fit you..and in this case, Grandpa's will, too, ~~if they wait long enough~~
Both of them!

1. TITLE: Twins! Twins! TWINS! TWINS!
2. Well, well! My, my! Everything's so-so in Columbus Ohio for the 13th Annual Convention of the International Twins Association. Unconfirmed rumors say that business among Columbus eye doctors has taken a sharp rise. And - 4,000 people hastily signed the pledge. But it's no illusion - nor yet a tantalizing hangover. Just twins - lots of 'em!
9. In convention assembled to exchange ideas on the little everyday problems of being a twin. Co-presidents of the Association are John and George Sesler. And among the problems discussed is how to smile sweetly when people call you "Kate" and DupliKate. Or any of those corny gags, like Juan and Juan-Two!
14. Or - Pete and RePete! Oh, it's leading a double life allright. But it's the good life, say these youngest and oldest twins!
