

Going from models to full-scale stuff.. we find the jetengine being tried in a new role. The idea is to break up the mud-which impedes shipping in the Thames. In view of the fact that nine-inches of water is said to stop a rifle-bullet.... this is clearly a case where Father Thames has the advantage.

~~It~~ looks that way! Father Thames wins! It's obviously a job for a bucket and spade.