In America skirts will be longer this autumn if fashion designers have their way, as they generally do. Up in arms against the threatened change women all over the country say they won't have it at any price, though that sort of thing has been said before. Fish-tail backs, accented hip-lines, and rounded shoulders are also coming into fashion. With regard to the longer skirt the girls say they have two very good, and shapely reasons why they don't want it.

In Dallas, Texas, they even went so far as to parade in protest. Different countries have different problems. It must be wonderful when even a fashion change can be a major grievance. Military men are against the fashion designers... old soldiers still have young ideas. Yes, Sir!

1. TITLE: FASHIONS! THE LONG - AND THE LONG OF IT!

2. Will women be wearing longer skirts this fall? Why, yes! say American designers. From Stonahenge, Connecticut comes this preview of the newest styles, that somehow take you back to the thirties, and even the nineties. Fishtail backs, rounded shoulders and accented hiplines are high fashion.. Following the trend of Paris couturiers, American designers are featuring the new, long skirt lengths. Yet, since most girls have at least two good reasons for not wanting to wear longer skirts, American women across the country are fighting mad.

14. In Dallas, Texas hundreds of women parade in protest against the longer skirts. Spearheading popular opinion from Alaska to Florida, from to California, these Texas lassies are LEK girls. They're for skirts a little below the knee not 12 inches above the ground! But in this fierce debate there is little doubt of the American man's position. He's against the longer skirts which mean new wardrobes this fall. He pays the bill and likes to see what is going on. He's the ladies' ally in the battle of the hemline!
