

TRAIN CRASH KILLS 29, INJURES 150

One coach of a slow train from Hayward's Heath hung perilously over the embankment outside South Croyden Station when the morning fog lifted and the extent of the crash was revealed. Into the back of the train the eight-four from Tattenham Corner crashed at speed. The driver was killed and twenty-eight passengers also lost their lives. several were <sup>still</sup> unidentified some hours after the collision.

(after LV)

Fifty five ambulances were quickly on the scene and waiting rooms were used as casualty stations. More than a hundred people were injured, many seriously. It was the worst accident in the history of the Southern Railway.