

KING MEETS STARS AT COMMAND FILM

Vivien Leigh, Lawrence Olivier, Stewart Granger and John Mills were among early arrivals at the Film Command Performance.

No such galaxy of British and Hollywood stars ever assembled before. In that array of fashion Greta Gynt achieved the minor miracle of being outstanding, in a sheath gown of silver lame.

Loretta Young, star of the picture, naturally attracted considerable notice, and everyone looked for the monarch of side-shakers, who compered the stage show.

In the front of the house the Royal Family were the real stars of the evening, ~~and they were to have the unusual experience of being the main attraction on the screen too,~~ for brilliant as was the ~~show the film of the Royal Wedding~~ ~~stole the evening.~~

Queen of Denmark had a bouquet <sup>also.</sup> ~~too.~~

When the performance was over the stars assembled to be presented to the King and Queen.

~~Lilli Palmer was in the distinguished~~ <sup>per there</sup> ~~Recently back from~~ Hollywood.

~~King of Denmark and handsome sweet for Princess Margaret.~~

Loretta Young came in for much more than formal words from Her Majesty, who warmly congratulated her upon her excellent performance in the film just seen. ~~Perhaps~~

00000000

Bob Hope received a royal commendation for his mirth-making ~~acting~~ on the stage. — King Michael escorting Queen Margaret —

The royal party left the theatre after a memorable evening which contributed to charity nearly thirty thousand pounds.