

TURPIN D'HAES FIGHT

Randolph Turpin gave away weight and height against Victor d'Haes at the Embassy Sportsdrome, Birmingham. Turpin, strips on trunks, was starting his one fight a month campaign, critical brother Jack in his corner, to get himself fit as a ^{title-holder} ~~champion~~ should be. The Belgian cruiser-weight champ was not in Turpin's class, but for five rounds he looked pretty good, ~~notwithstanding~~ ^{to same.}

The end came in Round 6, unexpectedly after the slow beginning. [A right hook to the solar plexus brought the Belgian to his knees.

88 — Half turning his back on Turpin/D'Haes stopped a heavy punch in the kidneys, and that was the end.

120 [Too long absent from the ring, Turpin has hard work ahead before he wins a world title.
