

BOAT RACE AHOY! Crews Warming Up

4
Cambridge are out on the Cam, their eyes on Mortlake. Their President, Marshall, Cox Eddy and Stroke Whitaker won't ~~hear~~ hear of anything but victory, though the crew is not finally chosen yet.

Coach Meldrum ordered tubbing practice ~~where~~ where carsmen can correct their own faults. All done by mirrors.

On the Thames at Wallingford Oxford are encouraged by their victory of last year; victory being a rare tonic of the Dark Blues. They're being coached by R.D. Hill and Stroked, so far, by A.H. Smith, of Australia. Last year, in the closest victory in Boat Race history, Oxford won by a canvas - about 10-feet. They dream of the day when they'll do it by 10-lengths.

(next) Nobody would begrudge the Dark Blues another win or two. Those Cambridge victories were getting ~~monotonous~~ monotonous.
