

FIFTH ROUND CUP: ARSENAL BEAT BURNLEY

Turf Moor was nearly snowbound, and only energetic clearing made it fit for play for the key-match of Round Five. Arsenal kicked off under conditions that might have ruled out any high class football; nevertheless a good deal of it was served up. Burnley's plan was to unsettle the gunners early on.

on, ~~the~~ England outside-left Elliott began a menacing move before being pulled up. ^{But} In the goalless first-half, with Arsenal adapting themselves better to the appalling surface, both sides missed scoring chances. In the second period the Londoners began as if the scent of Wembley ^e already in their nostrils.

59 ~~10~~ After fifteen minutes Forbes centred; Holton got his head to it and Arsenal were one up.

83 Two minutes later Holton himself centred to Logie. That little man flicked the ball to Lishman. He crashed the ball high into the net. Arsenal were in the last eight.
