

Field Marshal Montgomery was met by Chief of Staff Collins and Defence Head General Bradley, with whom he did not always see eye-to-eye in the last war. At President Eisenhower's invitation Monty is touring U.S. Military installations. At the Quantico base he saw amphibious tanks in a mock beach landing.

40

(Monty) Big helicopters, looking like flying insects in a bad nightmare, landed reinforcements of marines with full supplies.

110

As Deputy Supreme Commander in Europe the Field Marshal took keen professional interest in the important part helicopters look like playing in any future war.