

WHAT A GULL !

2

So

Among millions of seagulls you wouldn't think it possible to ~~among millions~~ pick out one at a glance. But at Los Angeles they can do that, because there's a winged fish-eater there nobody can mistake. Somebody shot an arrow clean through the poor bird, and unless it can be caught and freed the gull seems stuck with it for life. And the amazing thing is, it apparently doesn't care a rap. Why not is a mystery. In the nest it can't leave much room for the wife, can it?

When it comes to food, the arrow doesn't seem a handicap.
