Behind the well-guarded f Daggafontein Mine - bright spot in the coming age of atomic power - lies a £40m-plant ~~plant~~ mining uranium, now the most coveted ~~mineral~~ mineral in the world. Britain and America have invested the millions.

The plant was formally opened by Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, Chairman of the Anglo-American Corporation.

~~The~~ The press of a button started the complicated mining operations. South Africa is doubly fortunate; here on the Rand is ~~now~~ known to be the world's biggest supply of uranium, as well as of gold.
