

QUEEN ATTENDS THANKSGIVING AT ST. PAULS

3000 people were in St. Paul's Cathedral when the Royal Family arrived for the Coronation Thanksgiving Service. The sun, last week's most notable and regretted absentee, to some extent atoned for his scurvy behaviour and shone brilliantly as the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived.

Her Majesty was again in slate blue, with a small straw hat to match. She was now in the City, so before her went the Lord Mayor of London ~~carrying the pearl sword, etc.~~ ~~going back hundreds~~ ~~of years~~ ^{a link} with the past was provided by the presence of boys of Christ's Hospital. As in Tudor times the head boy presented the Queen with an illuminated parchment address.... Her Majesty conveyed ² him the royal reply.

The Dean of St. Paul's received Her Majesty.

~~(crowd) At the Service the congregation gave thanks and prayed for the future of the Queen and the Commonwealth. The Prime Minister read the lesson; the Archbishop of Canterbury preached the sermon.~~

~~(At the end of an uplifting week, perhaps the beginning of a bright era the nation has much for which to give thanks.~~
