

Head serving to Hartwig in Australia the all Australian ^{find of the} mens doubles of first at Wimbledon in a match Edson that had both pieces fighting a 2331 every inch of the way with head time

18. Rosewell serves, and then in close support, and their opponents Hartwig and how on their toes in a ding done battle of fast accurate shots and short rallies with head smashes; the ball comes back incredibly with Rosewell there to kill it to good and all

38. Head serves and once more these two boys play every shot in their locker

47. Rose serving: ~~to~~ ~~the~~ fast accurate play in another short rally until Hartwig clinches the issue

64. This is one of the fastest hardest games of this Wimbledon with the Australian pair fighting it out with sharp accurate bursts of intense and active net play, and often the impossible and the unexpected being achieved

107.

Rose sews again and once more its one of these fast rallies with neither side grows way until Rose smashes ~~to take~~ to bring the game match point

120

The last service from Rose for set point to bring Rose ^{Head} and ~~Head~~ out the winner in a 7-5 final set Head taking the point at the net.

It's Australia both ways in the men's doubles and the coveted trophy came to ~~Rose~~ ^{Rose} ~~his partner~~ ^{the woman} from the Duchesses of Kent.

MEN'S FINALS

6

The finals of the Men's Singles with twenty-two year old Kurt Nielsen of Denmark serving to America's Victor Seixas.

17

Nielsen serving again. For the first half hour he was on level terms with the powerful American, and here was sharp thrust and counter thrust, both players aggressive and accurate.

42

Seixas serving a high-reaching swinging delivery that Nielsen takes and returns only to hand Seixas the chance of an unreturnable smash.

53

Nielsen serves to Seixas . Seixas gets to it, both players on their toes, Nielson returns from behind his back, recovers himself and just gets the final shot.

74

Match point and Seixas serving at this end. First service a fault. Everything hangs on the second delivery. Nielsen returns into the net and its the championship for the thirty year old American Victor Seixas. ~~A nice touch, that, the congratulations and the friendly ruffling of his hair by the loser.~~ Believe it or not he's ~~Seixas has been~~ been playing tennis for 25 years and has at last won the right to stand in the centre court along with his defeated opponent and take the cup from the Duchess of Kent ~~who's as cool and as charming as the players are shy and exhausted.~~
