

ON FOOT, ON SKIS, ON WATER!

Starting from Calais Polish born Alex Wozniak set out to walk to England on specially designed skis. The poor Channel has been swum dozens of times, but the humiliation of being crossed on foot it has never suffered. Alex is a former ski champion of Poland but that didn't help him much in the Channel. It was hard work pushing the 8-foot skis with his cork discs. He should have had real skis and a tow, like the holidaymakers at Long Beach, California. Then he might have got across the Atlantic. [Girls do it just as well and look a lot nicer. ⁸ the sunshine and warm water, what a holiday.

WET ASSIGNMENT! CAMERAMEN DUNKED AT WATER SKI MEET

Water Ski-doings at Long Beach, California!

Champions from nine states in demonstrations of acrobatics on the slender boards. Male and female alike churn up the surf with precision and beauty.

Turning the table — and the chair ... he winds up all wet!

The cameramen following the daring ski-sters likewise taste the drink, in a surprise dumping, cameras and all! They're rescued in quick time, though, and like the troupers they are, get their wind-up shot ... a lens-full of skier!
