

DUKE DID IT: 741 m.p.h.

Sqr-Ldr. Neville Duke was all set at Tangmere for his world-speed-record bid. On four runs of the 3-kilometre course he had to ~~beat~~ better the existing record by 1%.

He averaged 722 miles-an-hour, only to learn that even that mightn't be enough - by a fraction of one mile an hour. But on two runs Duke flew faster than anyone else in the world.

3^u

Twice he touched 741 ~~miles an hour~~ m.p.h.

The other two runs were 704 and 703, average 722

Cheers for Neville Duke.
