

FLASHES!

British Heavyweight Champion Don Cockell has the name of Bacillieri on the punch-bag. The Italian is his next opponent, 7 Unlike the punch-bag, he can hit back; though Don's sure he won't get the chance. Joe Jacobs is promoting the fight, at Leicester on October 5th. Good luck to Don ~~Don~~ Cockell.

Everybody nowadays wants to know our innermost thoughts. A woman in Lyons was the guinea pig in the latest experiment, made by an inventive French physician. All you need for this kind of mental ex-rays is a clear conscience. ~~I must~~ <sup>must never know it</sup> ~~never tell~~ My husband, when he was away last week I slept without a hot water bottle... The machine can also tell what you think when you're asleep. One way and another it must have been nice to live in grand~~mother's~~ <sup>mother's</sup> day.

7 Bless me if they're not now carrying much the same idea down to fish. Hitherto nobody <sup>is</sup> ~~has~~ ever known what fishes talk about, so along comes this new apparatus, an undersea microphone, <sup>7</sup> ~~so~~ now we can hear what <sup>fish</sup> ~~fish~~ think about things in general. When it's published it'll make <sup>even</sup> Dr. ~~King~~ Kinsey blush. ~~(tape)~~ Fortunately we don't know the language. It might be very unflattering.

THOUGHT READING MACHINE

The "Gayographe" is to the human mind what X-Rays are to the body: it brings out all the ghastly things normally concealed. Even the slightest activities of the brain, waking or sleeping, are registered on the graph. All that science now has to do is to interpret the graph.

FISHY TALK

In something the same way science goes down to the river bed and finds out what the fish are thinking. The silence of the deep is a thing of the past. If this is on the level the fish have a lot to say.
