

UNDER WTAIRE FASHIONS

○ nowadays everything's either up in the air or under water.

Some sporting types at Silver Springs believe that even a fashion show can go below and a smart girl still look her best under a fathom or so of H2O. One good thing, the water plays all sorts of tricks with gravity. What goes down must come up, when you run out of greath. And of course the pace of life's different too. None of the tear and rush of the daily round: ~~you simply have to slow down~~

~~and relax a bit.~~ On a hot day this is much cooler than Wimbledon.... And talking about the daily round, how would the Ryder Cup lads get on down here?... And here's a tip for next year's Round Britain Cycle Race. Another thing, however wet the summer the rain never gets this far down. The only chap who ~~can't~~ ^{can't} get on here at all is Cupid. Just can't reach the target. Girls, ~~you'll do much better on the surface.~~ stick 2 to surface.

'NEW LOOK' IN FASHION SHOWS

It would seem that the hemline controversy is driving the girls into the drink! Actually, this dip is to see whether Davey Jones' locker contains anything in the way of sports styles. The poor fish at Silver Springs, Florida would give a "fin" to know what it is all about. Dame Fashion has never gone to these depths! But, here we are anyone for tennis? For golf, here is what the well-dressed mermaid will wear..... Pedal pushers for bicycling...."Look mom, no water wings!" She shoots an arrow into -- the H 2 O it falls -- well, you know. And if all this seems silly, blame it on the unpredictable filly!
