

THESE NAMES MAKE NEWS

To the grandeur that is Grindelvald in winter came Queen Juliana and her four daughters for their annual holiday at the winter sports. The Queen ~~came~~^{came} here, if not incognito, then certainly without the least fuss, intent on giving her children a wonderful time. The youngest, Maria Christina, is not quite seven; ~~the~~ Princess Beatrix, the eldest, celebrates her 16th birthday at the end of January.

The Queen ~~gives~~^{is giving} ski-lessons to Princess ~~Margrima~~^{Marijke}

(2 out) ^{Both}

Winter sports flourish in Holland itself, though ~~not~~^{hardly} the mountain kind. To the Princesses Switzerland scenery must seem a fairyland of beauty after the flat landscape ~~at~~^{at} home.

But to Sir John Hunt and Sir Edmund Hilliary the Alps must seem ~~like~~^{flat as} Holland, after the Himalayas. The conquerors of Everest, climbing ~~the~~^{now} the easy way, are having something almost like a busman's holiday, ~~on the French side. The~~

40 ~~mild weather over most of Northern Europe before Christmas~~
~~Recent heavy snow~~ ^{is in time of winter sports.}
~~looked like ruining the winter sports. Fortunately nature~~

50 ~~came to the rescue in time and~~ Conditions are now perfect.

Here's wishing a good ~~time~~^{holiday} to Hunt and Hillary. ~~When~~ They're happy anywhere if there's snow, ice and ~~mountains.~~ a clayen precipice.