

ROYAL TOUR: S. AUSTRALIA WELCOMES QUEEN

Adelaide, capital of South Australia, ~~had~~<sup>had</sup> on a full programme for the Queen's visit. It included the laying of a wreath at the State War Memorial. Having paid that tribute to men who fell in two world wars the Queen and Duke drove through the city, <sup>at</sup> in perfect ~~weather~~<sup>weather</sup> ~~of~~<sup>of</sup> truly royal setting to a great occasion. ~~film~~ <sup>30</sup>

The rocket range at Woomera was inspected by the Duke, on a day when the Queen herself had no official engagements. ~~His~~ His Royal Highness was a privileged spectator, seeing many secret devices. ~~and many other things~~. A country carnival match at the famous Adelaide Oval had royal patronage, and here that great man Sir Don Bradman renewed acquaintance with the Queen and Duke.

At Whyalla the Queen saw tribal dancing by Aborigines. The meaning of the ritual was explained to Her Majesty, strictly on condition that she never gave away the secret.
