

SNOW "CHEERS" 1955

England expected that every man would put up with it and every pigeon find his own food. ^{to} It was every man for himself; ^{can} the lions hadn't a roar left in them. For ~~everybody~~ ^{would be scrub}, from the Royal Family downwards, the sudden blizzard dominated the day. ^{2/} Halfway through a winter at least as warm as last summer down came the snow. ~~xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx~~

~~xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx~~ At the Zoo for some it was just like home; the camel feared there'll always be an England. Polar bear Brumas, quite a big girl now, enjoyed herself thoroughly.

Country Christmas card effects were just too late, but it was a real bonus, coming in the school holidays.

There was no excuse for not being at work on time. ^{4 7} ~~It was~~ ^{was} ~~rather late~~ a strike won't matter. ^{much} ₁₋ Meanwhile there was fun to be had of a sort that has to be snatched up while it lasts.
